REVERSES DECISION

Justice McCoy Gives Opinion That Saulsbury Resolution is Constitutional.

The Municipal Court of Washington which usually decides disputes between landlords and tenants, was placed in a peculiar position yesterday by the refusal of Chief Justice McCoy, of the District Supreme Court, to follow a decision by Associate Justice Gould that the Saulsbury resolution was unconstitutional.

Justice McCoy, in rendering an opinion in the case on the appeal of Dwight L. Bromwell, tenant of 1364 Harvard street northwest, from a decision of Judge Terrell of the Municipal Court, whereby the latter awarded possesion of the premises to Miss Corrine Hay, declined to follow Justice Gould's decision.

Attorneys for Mr. Bromwell offered to show that under the Saulsbury act, the landlord had not shown the necessity for possession, while counsel for Miss Hay contended that since Justice Gould had declared the law unconstitutional, their client had immediate right to the premises.

In giving his opinion as to the constitutionality of the law, Justice McCoy paid high tribute to the legal attainments of Justice Gould, but stated that he believed that the act was valid and within the war powers of Congress.

If Justice McCoy had concurred with Justice Gould as regards the alleged unconstitutionality of the act, the case would have doubtless been thrown out of court and thus the ruling of Judge Terrell would have been sustained.

CHILDREN ASPHYXIATED

Illuminating gas was the cause of the death of Mrs. Eva Hogarth, 31, and her four children,—Helen, 5; Archie, 4; William, 3, and Fred, 9 months, at Toronto, yesterday.

The children in play turned on four taps of the kitchen gas range and died through suffocation. Mrs. Hogarth had taken her baby up stairs. She smelled gas and on going down to the kitchen, saw the bodies of the other children where they had fallen. She fainted and was asphyxiated.

TREATY READY APRIL 1

League of Nations Strengthens Monroe Doctrine—Japanese Called Supposedly to Offer Amendment on Race Equality.

Paris, March 20.—The speed-up program of the Peace Conference is in full swing.

Committee sessions and the meeting of the Supreme War Council yesterday afternoon were expected to accomplish appreciable progress in drawing up the terms of the preliminary treaty with Germany.

The delegates continued in their belief that the treaty will be fully completed by March 29, and will probably be submitted to the Germans three days later. It was announced that Versailles has been definitely selected as the site for signing the treaty.

Lord Cecil asserts the league's charter is ready for the council of ten at any moment and therefore will not delay peace. Criticism here is relatively weak. Lord Cecil declares it is concerned mostly with the phraseology rather than the basic ideas. Amendments to the convent are still possible.

Lord Cecil argues, furthermore, that the covenant strengthens the Monroe doctrine rather than weakening it, because nothing, can be done without unanimous decision, and furthermore, he says, the league would not interfere with the internal affairs of any country.

Far from being a hastily put-together document, the covenant has been repeatedly considered by the British cabinet, even in Asquith's time as prime minister.

The Japanse delegates called at the Crillon Tuesday to inquire when the league of nations commission, of which President Wilson is chairman, will meet again. It is supposed they will then offer an amendment calling for race equality. Dispatches from Tokyo report public agitation in Japan on this subject, which may force the Mikado's representatives to make an effort to obtain this clause.

It is possible they will get theoretical satisfaction in the form of a solemn enunciation of a general principle, saving the face of Japanese pride, but it is unlikely that Japan will make her adherence to the league absolutely dependent upon this race clause. The question of religious equality is closely related to racial problems. At the time the covenant was drafted it was agreed to omit such questions because it was foreseen they would cause no end of debate.

LAY IN COAL

Householders are urged to order next winters' coal immediately in a statement issued yesterday by the Fuel Administration.

Otherwise, a "serious" fuel shortage may be expected next winter, the administration warned. A flood of orders now is expected to stimulate production, which has experienced a big drop for the coal year ending April 1. In February production was 52 per cent below "full time output" Lack of orders caused the production drop, according to the United States Geological Survey, Influenza among miners also had a bad effect. The armistice celebration also is blamed.

CROWDER FLIES TO CUBA

Lands in Hydroplane at Havana to Revise Election Laws.

Havana, March 20.—Major General Enoch H. Crowder, judge advocate general of the American army, who had been invited to Cuba by the Government to revise the election laws, arrived here from Key West Tuesday afternoon by hydroairplane. After landing General Crowder went aboard the American cruiser Cincinnati.

ROBBERS CAPTURED

After holding up the First National Bank at Freeport, N. Y., yesterday, and driving off in an automobile with $5,000, three bandits were overhauled by the police near Jamaica, two captured and the loot recovered.

When brought to bay, the bandits resisted, and one of them, Frederick R. Aphernal, was shot in the right shoulder. The other man gave the name of David Broomscorn. A third robber escaped into the woods.

ALL ASKED TO AID

Campaign for Clothing for War Sufferers Begins Monday

The problem of clothing the almost naked refugees that are pouring back to devastated homes in the Allied countries is of such magnitude tht only the United States can solve it. Accordingly, during the week of March 24-31 the American Red Cross will undertake the task of collecting ten thousand tons of used clothing, shoes and blankets for these unfortunate peoples. It seems hard to imagine any sort of apparel that would not prove useful to refugees and almost any kind is a godsend, but there are some articles that won't do.

Ball dresses are the last thing needed by a heartsick mother returning to her ruined hearth, but in campaigns for relief garments they have been donated generously. Other articles that have been offered and which are of corresponding usefulness in the situation are top hats, trimming of women's hats, umbrellas, parasols, shoe trees, feathers, clocks and glass ware.

What is needed, and needed with an urgency that can hardly be exaggerated, is strongly made, every day clothing for men, women and children, the plainer and more durable the better. Inner and outer clothing for all sizes and ages, and both sexes, is most acceptable and if capable of being repaired need not to be in perfect condition, for there are thousand of penniless women abroad eager to do necessary sewing.

All garments should be sent to the Red Cross headquarters, 806 Prince street during the week of the drive, or those who wish their garments sent for notify Swan Bros., telephone 183.

The need in the devastated countries is so great and the duty of the Red Corss is so urgent that all Alexandrians are asked to enthusiastically respond and help these helpless refugees; and in do doing, aid the Red Cross in solving one of the most serious problems of reconstruction. It is certainly humanity's call to humanity, and we who have been protected and saved from the horrors of war waged in our own country can not but answer the appeal of our afflicted Allies.

NEW FORM RUNNER

Limousine Shipped by Boat Lined With Liquor Bottles.

Charleston, W. Va., March 20.—A novel scheme for importing liquor into West Virginia was revealed Tuesday when a limousine unloaded from a Gallipolis (Ohio), packet at the levee was found to contain 50 pints of liquor concealed by a false bottom, false back and under the front and rear seats.

Prohibition Officer Ben Sparks seized the car after being informed that it concealed liquor by a stevedore, who had crawled into it to take a nap.

Sparks drove the car to the city hall, where the corduroy covering on the low ceiling was ripped off disclosing a carefully built tin false top above which were found dozens of pints of liquor. Further investigation was made later and the car was found to have a false floor made of galvanized iron with pockets in which pint bottles of liquor carefully wrapped were found. The seats and their backs were also padded with pints of liquor.

TRAGEDY OF EMPTY HOUSE

Falling Sash Breaks Child's Neck Climbing in Window

Bridgeton, N. J., March 20.Margaret, 7-year-old daughter of Charles Rogers, was instantly killed here Tuesday afternoon when a window sash fell upon her neck, breaking it. The little girl, returning from school, found no one at home and attempted to get in the house through a window. Raising the sash she started to climb in when the sash slipped from the fastenings and crashed down upon the child's neck.

A neighbor found the girl hanging from the window.

DISFIGURES WIFE FOR LIFE

Jealous Husband Slashes Her Face And Hands With Stilleto.

Allentown, Pa., March 20.—In a fit of jealous rage yesterday, Felice Ruccio, of Waterbury, Conn., a farmer soldier in the Italian army, slashed his wife with a stiletto and disfigured her for life. The woman is in a serious condition at the Allentown Hospital. Ruccio, after holding off a posse of citizens who had gone to his wife's rescue and a number of policemen at the point of a revolver, was arrested at Bethlehem several hours after the assault.

The pair had been separated more than a year because, it is said, of Ruccio's cruelty, and since then the woman has been living in this city with her five children, working in a she factory. She was on her way to work this morning, when her husband confronted her and, after a few words, drew the stiletto and began slashing her face and hands, declaring that he would "fix her for life."

Ingomar—"The Heart of Rachael."

Comparing the frivolities of society with home life, love and motherhood, stressing the elaborateness of toilettes and gowns in what are ironically called the "higher walks of life," playing upon the problems of a stepmother who asks "only decency and civility" from the man she has wedded without love and a daughter nearly as old as herself—such are points in "The Heart of Rachael," a new production starring Bessie Barriscale. at the Ingomar Theatre tonight.

NAIL KILLS BABE

Infant Swallows One of Four-Penny Variety and it Lodges in its Lungs.

Francum, of Butler, Tenn., died at a local hospital here yesterday as the result of having swallowed a four penny nail. An X-ray examination of her body showed the nail had lodged in her left lung. She lived three hours after an operation had been performed.

TRIAL OF LOU HALL

Second Time Before Court for Alleged Murder Charge.

Fairfax Court House, Va., March 20.—Lou Hall today faced trial a second time charged with being the slayer of fifteen year old Eva Roy in the circuit court for Fairfax county, Judge S. G. Brent presiding.

The first jury which heard the evidence in the case in November, last, disagreed, and a mistrial was declared. The vote stood nine to three for conviction.

Commonwealth Attorney C. Vernon Ford believes the case will be closed by Saturday night. He will probably use the same witnesses and offor the same evidence produced in the first trial.

Attorney Walter Oliver, counsel for Hall, who has charged from the first that Hall is a victim of circumstances, has been secretive as to his movements since the last trial. He will not say whether he has discovered new evidence.

The girl was assaulted and slain on August 5 last, while she tended her father's cows at a spring near Burke.

IS DICKENS TO GO, TOO?

While never an admirer, personally of Charles Dickens, his capers while in this country in the early forties having disguested many who had previously been his worshippers, we have ever recognized his genius. We have read the bulk of his writings and enjoyed them. That a complete knowledge of Dickens' works and a familiarity with his characters are essential for any one with literary tastes has ever been our conviction. In fact, his books are an education in themselves.

But we hear it whispered that the productions of the great English novelist are to be placed in the index expurgatarius—that is they are to be taken from the shelves of libraries if the plans of the prohibitionists are carried out. They are regarded as savoring too much of stimulants for the readers of the twentieth century.

We are sorry to hear this, as it has been our wont for many years to read many chapters in Dickens. The decline and death of "Little Nell" is one of the most pathetic scenes ever written, while the descriptions of Mr. Turveydrop and Mr. Skimpole will never be forgotten and are read over and over by all who enjoy a laugh. The adventures of Mr. Micawber afford us much merriment.

There is barely a day that we fail to meet with some one who fits Dickens' descriptions of the camouflages of every age. We run into the frauds and humbugs of this world at nearly every step, and the pictures of such, made before many of us were born, are often brought vividly to mind. Hence we enter our protest against the elimination of Dickens.

Henry Edward Warner publishes the following in the Richmond Times-Dispatch in connection with the above:

Dear old Mr. Pickwick must depart
From our public libraries,
Also jubilant Sam Weller,
His renegade dad, Tony Weller,
Mr. Snodgrass, Percy Tupman
And about nine thousand other
Dickens characters, because—
Whisper it softly—
They drink—horribly.
A prominent temperance woman
Who lives in New Jersey has said it,
The libraries will be combed
And all objectionable characters
Will be rooted out.
There won't be a rumhound left.
Dickens, although he has been dead
For a number of years, is held
To be a propagandist for liquor.
By the same sign, we must lose
From our literature
Will of Avon and Bobbie Burns,
Dear old Oliver Goldsmith,
Alexander Dumas, Balzac, Poe,
And in fact every one else
Who has ever written about
Any character who touched liquor.
We don't know what the reformer
Is going to do about the Bible.
There are always annoying questions
Just like that popping up
To take all the joy out of life.

THE GERMAN BLUFF

A Berlin dispatch to a London paper says the test question at the Peace Conference will be the west bank of the Rhine. There has been no serious proposition to annex the west bank to France, though Marshal Foch and General Gouraud have demanded this What has been seriously proposed is the demolition of the Rhine fortifications and the erection of Rhenish Prussia into an autonomous State. This is probably the question on which the German delegates are expected to refuse to sign, in which case the Ministry will resign and leave the matter with the National Assembly

It is suggested that this is merely an effort of the Germans to intimidate the peace conference, and they are likely to back down, as they have on several previous occasions when they have shouted what they would never do, and have then done it.

The peace conference is in no mood for half-way measures, and it has at no time shown a disposition to yield to the noisy German demands. The Allies and America are perfectly ready to meet the German bluff or the German threat, whichever it may be. The victors will name the peace terms in accordance with justice and the safety of France and the other conquerors. The Allies have a formidable force on the Rhine, and German power of resistance has been steadily declining.

If the German Government shall reject the terms Germany will be occupied, and it will be held until it, or a succeeding Government, shall accept them. It has just been agreed that 370,000 tons of food per month shall be supplied to Germany till the harvest. According to most of the accounts Germany is in desperate need of the food. It will be perfectly simple to cut off this supply.

If that is not enough, the Allied and American troops will go to Berlin. If the Germans do not make peace in Paris they will have peace made for them in Potsdam.

THE GAZETTE IN ITS INFANCY.

Eugene L. Sanders, residing at 210 North Alfred street, a day or two ago showed us copies of the Alexandria Gazette of July 21, 1785, when this paper was in its second year. It was published at that time by George Richards & Co., in a building in Printer's alley, on the east side of Fairfax street, near King. The papers are interesting when taken in connection with the early history of Alexandria.

Of course the news matter of that day is of no especial interest, as the contents consist chiefly of foreign intelligence and communications from correspondents. The advertisements, however, are entertaining, as they show the taste displayed in those early days of the great American republic. A number of announcements offering rewards for runaway negroes appear. One, making about three inches in space, is all in poetry.

The name of William Ramsay, Richard Lee and others who figured in the early days of Alexandria are appended to public notices.

The dimensions of the Gazette in 1785 were about those of an eight-by-ten pane of glass. The ink used was of a crude variety, and it was applied to the type with balls, the coverings of which were sheepskin and the interior wool. It was slow and tedious work printing an edition in those days. A Franklin hand press was used, and no matter how fast two men operated it two hundred and fifty copies an hour was regarded as good work. While one man was engaged in taking from the "frisket" (or frame) a copy and placing a blank sheet his assistant patted the ink on the "form."

The Goss press now used feeds, flies, folds and counts the papers almost as fast as a man can clap his hands.

PASSING OF WINTER

Uprose the wild old winter king,
And shook his beard of snow;
"I hear the first young harebell ring,
'Tis time for me to go!
Northward o'er the icy rocks,
Northward o'er the sea,
My daughter comes with sunny locks
This land's too warm for me."

According to the almanacs, spring begins tomorrow. In about three weeks nature will give evidence of a revival. The buds upon the trees will begin to swell and all will rejoice that another winter has passed into history.

Mild as it was, it brought anxiety to those who are in the evening of life, as well as to numbers who have been recuperating from the weakening effects of the dreaded flu which laid so many low during the fall months

Old Sol is now well upon his northern journey after his trip to Capricorn. This orb, the life our our planet, is now vertical over the mouth of the Amazon. By the 21st of June he will be as high up as the southern section of Cuba.

The winter now about to pass away has been one of the mildest on record. But this fact in no way diminished the dangers incident to advanced years or weakened constitutions. Those suffering from organic troubles have been kept anxious while watching the fluctuations of the weather. The storm king has not advanced in his fury, while at times the temperature has been at stages suggestive of aeolian harps.

The vernal equinox has long been anciticpated, as after the sun crosses the line, although there may be some sudden drops in the mercury, the severe weather is known to have reached its limit.

All legal residents of the City who paid or were subject to a Federal Income Tax, except employees of the Federal Government, are also subject to a State Income Tax. This applies not only to individuals but to Mercantile and Manufacturing firms, companies or corporations, in fact, all business enterprises and industries must make this return and are again urged to do so at once and avoid compulsory action on the part of the Tax Officials which will certainly follow in the event of failure

NEWS OF THE DAY!

Greek delegates have learned that the Turks recently laid plans for a wholesale massacre in the Province of Aiden, which is largely populated by Greeks, it was announced yesterday in Paris. The plans were revealed through orders captured from the Turks. The first, dated February 25 and signed by the commander of the Aidin gendarmery, reads: "I call your attention to the attitude of the Greeks toward Mussulmans We must exterminate this base, miserable nation."

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says he understands evacuation of Odessa by anti-Bolshevik forces has begun. The Soviet army was said to be within 15 miles of that city. A dispatch from Helsingfors said the Bolsheviki claim the capture of Berditchaff, a town in the province of Kieff, 24 miles south of Zhitomir.

Mrs. Frank Henderson, 28, took her three children, aged 4 and 2 years and two months, in her arms and jumped into a pond near their home at North Springfield, Ohio, yesterday. Neighbors who heard the children's screams, arrived in time to save the mother, but all the children were drowned.

More than 2,000 shoe workers employed in ten of Chicago's largest shoe manufacturing plants went on strike yesterday following failure of representatives of the United States Department of Labor to settle differences between the workers and manufacturers over a forty-four hour working week.

The Russian Bolsheviki are organizing men prisoners returning from Siberia, to be used in the event of a Bolshevist invasion of Germany, a Berlin dispatch reports. These Germans, it was said, constitute the "western communist division" and are dwelling in Samara, Nijni-Novgorod and Ottopertz. Another dispatch said the president of the German soviet in Petrograd had informed Premier Lenine that Karl Radek had formed twenty-eight separate Bolshevist organizations in Germany.

NATURE PROVIDES THE INGREDIENTS

Argo-Phosphate, the New Herbal Remedy, Now Endorsed by Local People

If the digestive rgans are not properly performing the work which nature has assigned to them, then nutrition, which is absolutely essential to the recovery of other diseased parts, will be lacking and there can be no permanent relief. When bodily nutrition is normal, the stomach digests the food, the blood absorbs and carries the nourishment to the different parts of the body, causing the various organs to properly perform their functions.

Nature has provided a remedy in the ingredients of Argo-Phosphate, the new herbal stomach remedy, which is now being introduced here. It is purely vegetable and its vitalizing, corrective and reconstructive qualities are so pronounced that beneficial results are noticed from the first day. That this is true, it is only necessary to listen to the statements made daily by local people who have given Argo-Phosphate a fair trial and have been benefited thereby.

It is dispensed by Richard Gibson and the Rexall Store.

LUDENDORFF OUT OF JOB

His Memoirs Finished, He Finds Himself Most Idle Man in Germany

Having finished writing his memoirs General Ludendorff is today about the most idle man in Germany.

Not even the dubious glamour of the Kaiser in exile surrounds him. He is to be seen walking in the streets of Berlin, an erect figure in civilian clothes, no different from the thousand and one erect figures about him. With every other correspondent in Germany I paid a visit to General Ludendorff's home.

At present he is living as a guest at the home of his former adjutant, Captain Broecker. As I spoke with Mrs. Broecker, the American wife of the Prussian officer, General Ludendorff sat in the adjoining room, bent over a table fussing with the proof involve him in the conversation were futile.

During the talk, however. I heard that it was better not to mention the name of Hindenburg, as "his Excellency Ludendorff and Hindenburg are not on speaking terms." I inquired why, and was told that Hindenburg acted in an unethical manner in deserting a fellow-commander. It appeared that on the way east in 1917 Hindenburg and Ludendorff had shaken hands and vowed to stand together, and that what befall one would befall the other. Despite this Hindenburg had taken the first opportunity to play a trick upon Ludendorff and spread the report last November that Ludendorff had fled from Germany to save his skin; also that Hindenburg had refused to permit the Kaiser to organize a battalion and lead it himself into battle in October saying: "You'll be shot by your own soldiers if you do."

"What is General Ludendorff going to do now? I asked.

"That is what we are all wondering." Mrs. Broecker answered. "He hasn't anything or any job at all. He is only 53 years old and too young to be idle."

I learned then that an American firm was trying to make a contract to put Ludendorff on a lecture circuit in the United States, "The people would come to look at me as something out of the zoo."

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Alexandria People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Alexandria people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony such as the sufferer from Kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. G. W. Davis, 107 Prince St., Alexandria, says: "Doctors treated me for along while and pronounced my case of kidney trouble a severe one. Often I felt so listless and nervous, I almost gave up hope. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief after everything failed. Doan's strengthened my kidneys and removed the trouble."

THREE YEARS LATER Mrs. Davis added: "I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when my kidneys don't act as they should. I always get quick relief."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Davis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. WILKINS ARRESTED

New York Physician Held in Connection With Death of His Wife.

New York, March 20.—Dr. Keen Wilkins, aged 57, was arrested here last night upon his arrival from Baltimore and was immediately locked up on a charge of homicide in connection with the death of his wife.

Dr. Wilkins disappeared Sunday while the investigation into the murder of his wife in their Long Beach home was in progress.

Before Wilkins fled, it was learned today, he spent considerable time burning papers and packing his clothing. When District Attorney Weeks heard this he discarded the theory that Wilkins had committed suicide.

One of the most important witnesses summoned before the grand jury was Mrs. Mary Nitzl, Wilkins' house keeper. According to information an unknown man telephoned her the night of February 27 and informed her in German, that Dr. Wilkins had just murdered his wife at their home in Long Beach. When Wilkins returned to his New York home the next day the woman told him of this call. He became enraged, she said, and told her to keep her mouth shut.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Fire Tuesday night in Norfolk destroyed the Gwaltney building with in 75 feet of the Norfolk water front, with a loss of $300,000, partly covered by insurance. The building partly occupied by Baldwin Prince & Company, feed dealers, who lost a large store of grain and feed. The upper floors were used as a warehouse and were filled with foodstuffs. The building was erected at a cost of $100,000 in 1914.

From New York to Hampton Roads naval base in three hours and seven minutes was accomplished by an airplane of the F-5 type. Driven by Ensigns Pulliam and Irvine, the No. 495, accompanied by No. 1090, a similar type machine, left New York on a special photographic mission. The 495 covered the 300 miles eleven minutes quicker than its companion. Both averaged about 100 miles an hour. The flight was a non-stop one.

The West Virginia senate yesterday afternoon passed the Virginia debt settlement bill, by which provision is made for paying the judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States against West Virginia in favor of Virginia, the basis of settlement proposed by Virginia and accepted by the legislature of West Virginia at the regular session. The bill provides that a direct tax shall be laid each year by the board of public works sufficient to create a sinking fund to retire one-twentieth of the bonds and pay the interest on them.

William Pritchett, a well known citizen of Spotsylvania county, shot and killed himself with a shotgun at his home near Partlow Monday. He had been in bad health.

Luther B. Funkhouser, a merchant of Strasburg, committed suicide Monday in his storeroom. He had arranged two methods of ending his life. Boring two holes in the ceiling of the back storeroom, through which he passed a rope, the other end being noosed about his neck, he stood on a lard can and with a revolver shot himself through the temple. His daughter looked through the glass door and saw the body of her father swinging from the ceiling, With her bare hands she broke through the glass, but when she reached his side life was extinct. In breaking the door Miss Funkhouser received severe cuts on her hands and arms. Mr. Funkhouser was 71 years old and a member of the Stover Camp, Confederate Veterans, of Strasburg. Business worries are said to have prompted the suicide.

Gen. Liman Von Sanders is first of the German commanders to be seized for trial for violation of the rules of warfare. And he is going to be tried in Constantinople, too. Sanders was in command of the Turkish forces which were operating under direction of Berlin. He is known to have sanctioned Turkish atrocities, including massacres of Greeks and Armenians.

Lieutenant Governor B. F. Buchanan who went to Washington yesterday in connection with his duties as general counsel for receivers of insolvent national banks, announced that, barring unforeseen circumstances, he would be a candidate for governor in 1921 to succeed Westmoreland Davis.

Railway administration detectives announced yesterday in Norfolk following the arrest of L. S. Walden, a quartermaster employed by the Old Dominion Steamship Company, that they had unearthed a series of systematic freight robberies, which have resulted in the disappearance of freight valued at thousand of dollars. Walden is specifically charged with the theft of silk valued at $2,100. He will be given a hearing Friday. Other arrests involving a considerable larger amount of goods are expected in the meantime.

VOICE CROSSES OCEAN

Marconi Engineer in Ireland Talks to Fellow Worker in Nova Scotia

London, March 20.—The human voice traversed the Atlantic at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

After many months of preliminary experiments in long distance telephony a Marconi engineer sat in a wireless hut at Clifden, Ireland, at that hour, lifted the receiver and called "Glace Bay."

Instantaneously the answer came.

"Glace Bay talking."

From that moment continuously Clifden communicated with Nova Scotia, the voices carrying strong and clear all day.

There were no sentimental speeches The technical engineers talked about improvements of the system which thus carries man's voice across the Atlantic as readily as between New York and Hoboken.

"Our experiment was a complete success." Manager Bradfield, of the Marconi company, said tonight. "Transmission was absolutely instantaneous, and the voices were as clear as your's over the telephone to me. After the first messages had been exchanged conditions were so perfect that our engineers continued their conversations all day, saving the delay of writing their comments and recommendations regarding improvement. I am sorry I am unable to give a detailed account at this time.

SEVERE TEST SHOWS HOW TO SAVE SHOES

"A molder in our foundry wore a pair of shoes with Neolin Soles every day for ten months and two weeks—both in the foundry, and to and from his work—and they are just worn out." The Sessions Foundry Company of Bristol, Connecticut, makes this report on a pair of Neolin-soled molders' shoes given them for test.

Neolin Soles have none of the shortcomings of other soles. They do not burn or crack under conditions such as these—nor do they wear out quickly under the grind of abrasive materials. They are made by Science to be especially tough and durable, will stand the roughest kind of usage and so wear longer and save money. Moreover, they are comfortable and waterproof.

You can get them on new shoes in many styles for men, women and children—or as re-soles. They are manufactured by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

R. WALTON MOORE FORMALLY ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS.

Fairfax, Va., March 18, 1919.

Fellow Citizens:

Having resigned the Government position which I held during a part of the war period, I now wish to confirm the statements published in the press, since the Hon. C. C. Carlin's retirement from Congress, by announcing my candidacy for the Democratic nomination as Representative from the Eighth District. As a lifelong resident of the District, I believe I have a knowledge of its conditions and needs which will enable me to successfully employ whatever strength and experience I may possess in the work of guarding and promoting its interests. The future of the District, which of course involves the welfare of those engaged in agriculture and in all the other pursuits and enterprises to which our people are devoting their energies, will be vitally affected by federal legislation in the enactment of which its representative will be a participant. There are large problems of a general nature, and there are also specific problems, none of which can be rightly disposed of without advantage to the District. At a time of great and serious concern to the country, I have completely and finally severed my connection with private business, and now seek the opportunity of entering the public service, with the resolute purpose, if chosen, of sparing no exertion in the effort to justify the confidence of the District, which, due to its resources, its location and the character of its people, is of unsurpassed importance. Should I receive the high honor of being nominated and elected I will become a member of the House of Representatives free from any agreement or obligation, except the single promise that I will always be accessible to my constituents, and will strive to represent them with fairness and wisdom to the very best of my ability.

Faithfully yours,
R. WALTON MOORE.
